Page 11: Identifying the Document for the Price Basis.

Instead of using a manufacturer's current dated product line catalog or price sheet, Bidders can submit a dealer price list or MSRP provided that (1) the dealer price list or MSRP is established by the manufacturer; (2) the price list or MSRP contains the base line pricing to which the adjustments will be applied in the bid; (3) the bidder submits net bid prices based on the application of the adjustment to the base line price; and (4) the dealer price list or MSRP that is submitted with the initial bid and the adjustment methodology are used consistently throughout the entire term of the contract and shall be used when new products are added to the product line.
