Fall 2022 Schedule of Classes

FALL EXCLUSIVE

What do recycling, dead birds, weaving, & spider webs have to do with my classroom?

STEM can be a daunting curriculum for early learning teachers. This training will cover the basics of what is entailed with the STEM acronym, as well as how much of this curriculum is regularly happening within early childhood classrooms. We will look at inviting activities to do with children, how to use observation skills when interacting with children in programs and support programs in what they are already doing that is STEM related.

Fall 2022 Schedule of Classes

Never Say "Just" Play Series

In this four-class series taking place from October to April, we will dig into the "how" and "why" of play-based learning. Understand what skills children are building when they play in the blocks area, design your dream learning environment and then make it a reality, show children you value the work they do and practice planning fun and engaging play activities for your students. Each class takes place via Zoom and has a brief, optional homework element for extra STARS credit.

Directors Cohort

Join your colleagues in the field for networking and establishment of a professional community of learners. Now in our 5th year, this training uses discussion, reflection, and exercises, encouraging review of practices, and offers an environment of shared ideas. Topics will vary per session, guided by member experiences. This training program utilizes curriculum from Directors Toolbox (from McCormick Center for Early Childhood Leadership). We will look at what works, what supports directors need, and ongoing issues within the field of early childhood education.

Courageous Leadership in Early Childhood Education

This training will focus around the book Courageous Leadership in Early Childhood Education: Taking a Stand for Social Justice, by Long, Souto-Manning, & Vasquez, editors. This training is mainly discussion based, with learners focusing on 2 chapters per session (to be determined by the group prior to each session). Participants will be asked to reflect on 4 questions during the 1st session to help me assess their comfort/knowledge/experience level in talking about social justice/equity issues; These questions are:

- What are you looking for in this training series?
- How can I help make this series meaningful for you?
- Have you done any work on equity or social justice before now?

- What is your comfort level about discussing topics of race, bias, inequities?

My hope is that the group develops into a safe space to discuss issues of social justice for participants own personal development/growth, as well as in their professional roles in early learning environments.
