Summer 2022 Schedule of Classes

Reflecting on Anti-bias Education: The Early Years Film Study

Anti-bias education places diversity and equity goals at the heart of everything we do in early childhood. We begin by affirming each child and family's social identities and cultural ways of being. Building on the strengths and knowledge children bring to school, anti-bias teachers seek the active engagement of families and communities. More than a set of curriculum activities, this approach is a commitment to equity and social justice. Anti-bias teachers observe carefully, think critically, and reflect deeply. This training makes use of the study guide designed by the film producers. The first 4 sessions go through the ABE goals of Identity, Diversity, Justice, Action, with the 5th session used as a time for participants to reflect, discuss & plan. May be taken individually or as a full series.

What do recycling, dead birds, weaving, & spider webs have to do with my classroom?

From Building a STEM Curriculum: MERIT entry info: STEM can be a daunting curriculum for early learning teachers. This training will cover the basics of what is entailed with the STEM acronym, as well as how much of this curriculum is regularly happening within early childhood classrooms. We will look at inviting activities to do with children, how to use observation skills when interacting with children in programs and support programs in what they are already doing that is STEM related.
